Jim And His Big Brag

Jim and his pup zoom off to play with his pals.

His pal, Len, has a cool new gift. It is a ship.

Jim says

the ship is good, but his toys are the best.

Jim told a lie. He does not have a lot of good toys.

He must find

the good

stuff to show

his pals.

This is Pa's

best plant.

He took it to a show.

This is Gran's best wool. She can make cool things with it.

This is

Dad's best game. He is too good to beat.

Jim took a stack

of good books

from Jill's room.

His pup stood

still with a box

stuck on its head.

Last of all,

Jim took the best of

Mom's

makeup.

Jim's pals came to look at his big pile of stuff. Then, one by one, they took it all back. Jim stood and let them help.

Oh no! Look!

Did they

miss one of

Mom's

things?

They look in each nook,

but Jim yells,

'It is not in my room!'

Woof! Jim's pup finds it! The pup is the best.

Jim And His Big Brag

Jim's pal Len has a shiny new toy, and Jim just HAS to have something better to show off. But what happens when your toy box only holds a dented ball and a broken game? Can Jim sneak through the whole house, grab Grandpa's plant, Gran's crafts, and Dad's game, and pull off the biggest brag ever - or will his sniffy little pup give the game away? This decodable reader practices the 'oo' sound in words like 'cool,' 'look,' 'room,' and 'stood.'
