

Big Fang

It is morning,
and the sun is
up.

Kim grins and brings Ben to the big tree.

The guava
hangs up in the tree, and it has a big dent.

Ben gasps.

Who bit it?

A fat green
bug is feeding
on a plant,
and Ben jabs
at it. But the bug is not big!

A green bug
clings to a twig,
and it can spring
and hop. Ben jabs at it, but it
can not crack
the guava.

A fat hen pecks in the grass. Kim grins. A hen has wings, but it can not get up in the tree.

The sun sets,
and it is a long
hunt.

Kim jumps up.

The pest must
creep in at dusk!

Kim brings a
rug to camp
at the tree.
Ben sits and
longs for sleep.

Kim grips the lamp, seeking the pest.

Ben creeps at the back and
jumps at the wind.

Kim and Ben sit
in the tent,
waiting and
peeking.

Flap, flap, flap!
It has wings!

Kim and Ben
peek up.

It hangs from the tree, and it
is feeding on
the guava!

It has wings,
and it is not a
bug or a hen.

Kim grins and claps. It is a bat!

Bat hangs in the tree, plump and glad.

Kim and Ben
sleep snug in bed,
and Ben is snoring.

Big Fang

Kim and Ben spot something strange: a guava with a huge bite taken out of it, high up in the tree. They blame a bug, then a hen, but nothing adds up. When morning turns to evening with no answer, Kim has an idea, what if the culprit only comes out at night? Written for Jolly Phonics classrooms (Group 5: ng /ng/), this book practices words like 'hangs', 'wings', 'clings', 'peeking', 'waiting'.
