

Give Me a Drop!

Max is on the land. It is not wet at all.

Max has a rain chant. 'Come, rain!' he calls up. He hopes it will come this time.

Max steps on the path and calls up with a yell. 'Come to me, rain! Drip, drop, splash!'

A wisp glides by. It will not stop for Max.

Thump, thump,
thump! Max spins
to look. A huge pal is on the path.

'I am Gus!' he
says with a grin.
'I like that song.
Can I sing it?'

Max is glad. 'Yes,
Gus! Sing with me!'

Max and Gus chant
and stomp on the sand. The land
shakes as Gus
sings. 'Come, rain,
come! Fall on this land!'

A black mass
comes in fast.
Zap! A flash hits
the land. Drip,
drop! 'Gus!' Max
yells. 'It came!
The rain came!'

The rain falls and falls. Max grips his hat and smiles. Gus
stomps in a wet
spot and sings.

Max and Gus dance
and dance. 'We made
it rain!' they yell.

Give Me a Drop!

Max has never made it rain, not once, but today his chant feels lucky. He calls to the clouds anyway, stomping and singing across the dry land. Then a huge, grinning stranger appears on the path, and Max has a wild idea: what if they chant together? Created to align with the UFLI Foundations scope and sequence (Lesson 62: VCe Review 3, VCe Exceptions), this book practices words like 'hope', 'huge', 'smile', 'shake', 'time'.
