

I Just Want It Hot!

An Unofficial Minecraft Book

Steve
stands on the grass.
He has a big fat cod.

Steve sniffs
the cod. It is not hot, and it smells bad.

Steve sets
logs on the grass. His fire puffs
and puffs.

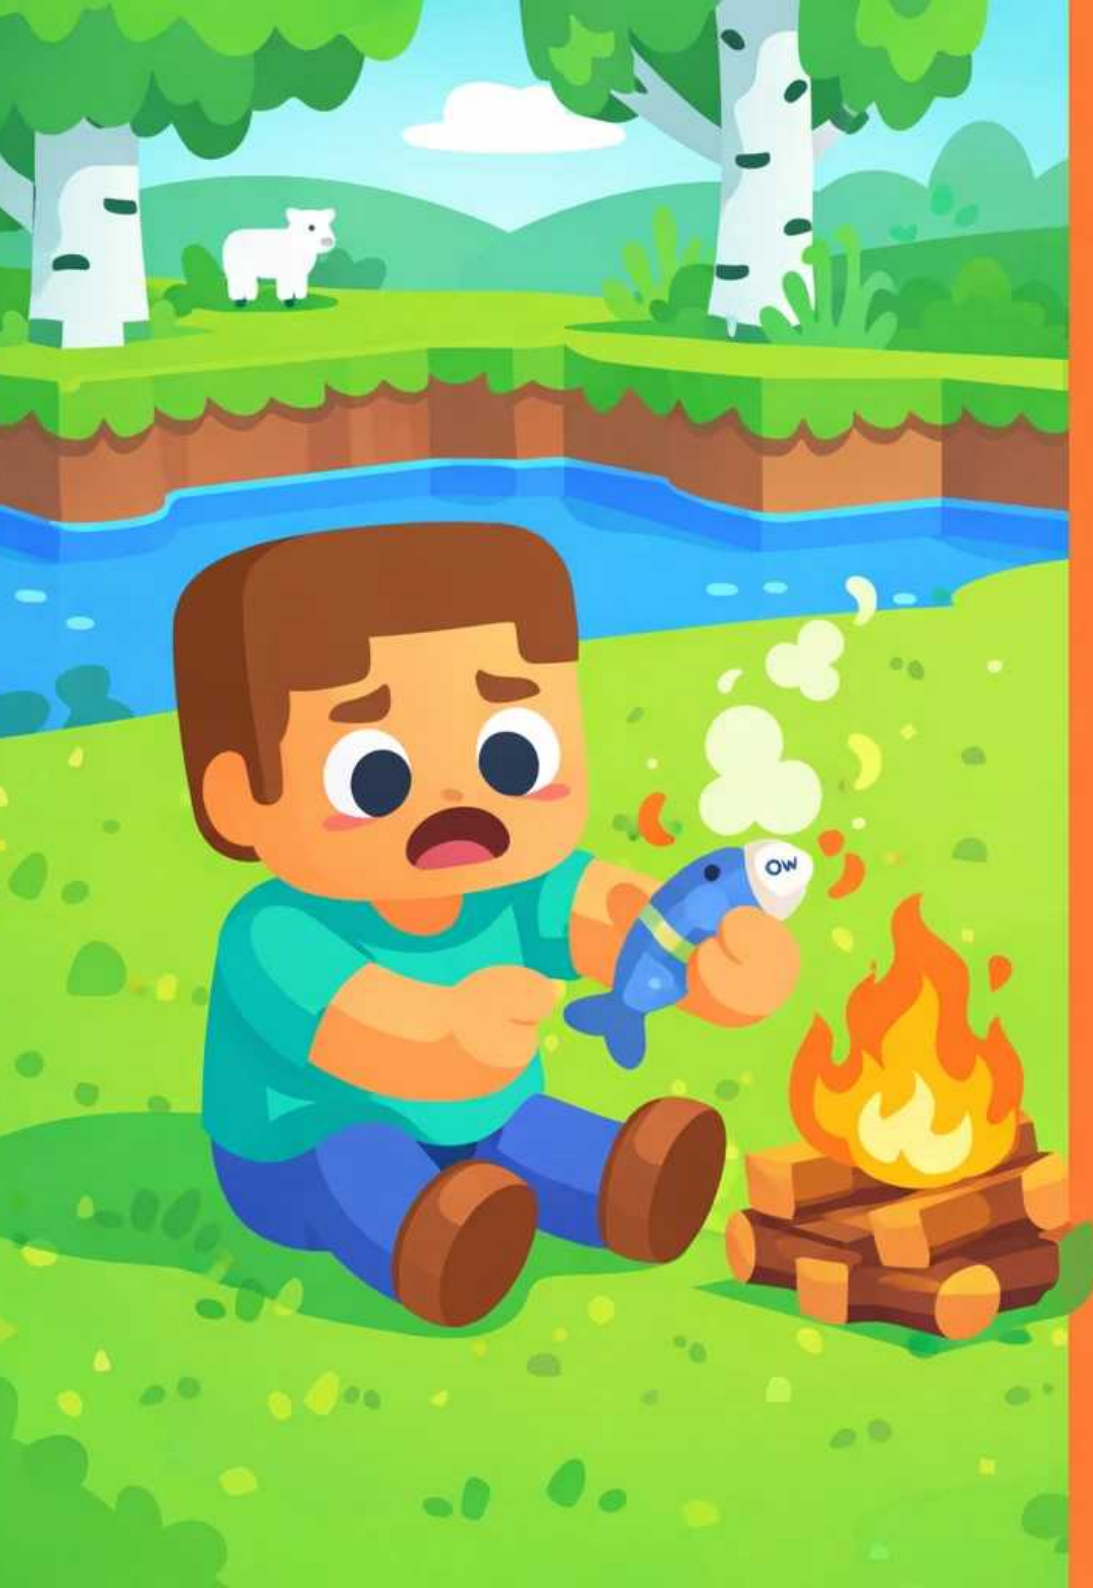

It is hot, hot,
hot! Steve huffs and steps back a bit. But he will not stop.

Steve sets
the cod in the fire. Hiss!
It gets hot
and crisp.

Steve grabs
the hot cod.
He yells and
yells. Hot,
hot, hot!

Steve is on a hill with a bit of chicken. It is not hot yet.

Steve must get logs. But he sees no logs, just grass and a craft. He fusses.

The sun sets. Steve is still sad
on the hill.

Steve stops
on the hill
and gasps.
Lava! It is hot, hot, hot!

Steve sets
the chicken on a rod. He grins. He has skill!

The chicken
drops in the lava. Puff! It is lost. Steve is sad.

I Just Want It Hot!

Steve is starving, and all he wants is something hot to eat. First he catches a fish, but eating it raw is out of the question, so he builds a roaring fire in the grass. When there's no wood left for round two, he trudges up a hill with his dinner, hoping for another way to get it sizzling. Will he ever get a proper hot meal? Created to align with the UFLI Foundations scope and sequence (Lesson 42: FLSZ Spelling Rule (ff, ll, ss, zz)), this book practices words like 'grass', 'hill', 'puffs', 'yells', 'hiss'.
