

The Big Blue Fills It All

The ocean is big and blue. It is so vast, it fills the map from coast to coast. Look at the coral deep in the water!

A small land bit
sits in the vast blue. It is sandy,
still and empty.

The water swells
and splashes on the sand.

This part is sunny
and not too deep.
Grass and kelp fill
the sandy bed.

Tropical fish zip
past the coral, and a squid drifts by.

This part is dim
and chilly. The bed is rock and soil,
not sand.

A cod swims in the kelp. The fish
do not fuss at the chill.

Big chunks drift on the water. It is a still, cool spot.

But a squid and a fish swim on in the chill.

Look at all the coral! It is pink and red and blue.

Tropical fish pass the big glossy lumps. The reef is a happy, sunny spot.

Not all mobs are good. This mob is cross and gruff.

It shoots a hot jet at all that approach. Swim off, quick!

Turtle rests on the hot sand. A small mob sits with her. The sun is out and all is well. Then Turtle dips back in the water.

Tropical fish, a squid and Turtle swim at the reef. The water
is fresh and good,
so all is well.

Lots of living things dwell here.

Two mobs stand on the sand. Trash
and junk mess it up.
'This is bad,' they tell us. 'Help us pick up this mess. Keep the ocean fresh
and well!'
